To all VIC-20/C64 Users:

With the number of VIC-20 and Commodore 64 computers in use today, and the great variety of fine (and sometimes not so fine) hardware and software available for these computers, a number of companies have sprung up offering to sell these products to you. However, most all of these companies simply keep these programs on the shelf, and are not familiar with them at all. How many times have you heard someone saying "That company doesn't support their products well", or "That company is no help at all". You probably have heard this. You may have even said it yourself. Too many companies have no idea of what they are selling.

At OMNITRONIX, the operating word is SERVICE. Over 50% of our staff use the VIC-20 or C64 for their own hobby and enjoyment. OMNITRONIX totally supports your VIC-20 and C64 computer with hardware and software items that we have tested and found to be good useful products. That includes becoming very familiar with the products and how to use them, so that when you have a question, you can talk to someone who knows the product. We guarantee good service.

We are continually looking for ways to improve our products and service to you. On page 30 of this catalog is an offer for you to send in your suggestions on how and what we should improve. Please read this, as we will be giving away a prize. Look through our catalog and see if you find something you are interested in. On most programs (except for the games), we can supply comprehensive additional information, so please feel free to write a letter or give us a call, and we will send it right out

You can count on us for good service.

Sincerely,

Tim Stoner
President

CASSETTE INTERFACE & DUPLICATOR for the VIC-20 and C64 (Omnitronix)

With the release of the long awaited Cassette Interface and Duplicator (CID) for the VIC-20 and C64 from OMNITRONIX, users can look forward to much easier cassette recorder use with their computers. The CID offers a combination of features not found on any other cassette interface currently available. Enclosed in an attractive black case, the CID plugs into the cassette port of the computer, allowing loading and saving VIC-20 or C64 programs using a standard portable cassette recorder. Tapes made with the CID can load on a Datasette, and vice versa. In addition, high quality backup copies of cassette programs can be made (even machine language) by connecting two cassette recorders together through the CID and copying from recorder to recorder. An external switch on the CID allows the unit to be set for cassette recorders which use reverse polarity (a common difficulty with other cassette interfaces). When used with a recorder which has a motor remote control jack (most do), the CID controls the cassette motor to start and stop the tape at the proper times during saving and loading. A quiet tone emanates from the CID case when a tape is playing, allowing easy cueing and monitoring of the cassette program.

CATALOG # 10-101 ... CASSETTE INTERFACE AND DUPLICATOR for the VIC-20/C64 $34.95 (1.60)

RS232 INTERFACE for the VIC-20 and C64 (Omnitronix)

The RS232 Interface plugs into the User I/O port of the computer, and converts the Commodore TTL signals to RS232. A two foot cable from the interface terminates in a male DB25 connector. The RS232 Interface allows you to drive most any serial device, such as a modem or serial printer, and the complete documentation contains a type-in BASIC dumb terminal program, how to list a BASIC program to the serial printer, and other useful software ideas. (Please note that the interface is not intelligent, and will not convert the Commodore control characters to standard text in listing or printing). The Interface supports RS232 pins 2 through 8, 20, and 22. All signals are independent of each other. When you need to connect the RS232 Interface to a male DB25, or when a printer is being driven, we recommend the use of a DB25 "patch adaptor", two DB25 connector shells bolted back to back with 9 jumper leads supplied to allow you to connect the necessary lines and make any changes. We offer these below also.

CATALOG # 10-102 ... RS232 INTERFACE for the VIC-20/C64 $39.95 (1.60)
 CATALOG # 10-106 ... Female DB25 to Female DB25 with 9 jumper leads $10.95 (none)
 CATALOG # 10-107 ... Female DB25 to Male DB25 with 9 jumper leads $10.95 (none)

VOLKSMODEM INTERFACE CABLE for the VIC-20 and C64 (Omnitronix)

In the search to support a low cost modem for the VIC-20 and C64, OMNITRONIX introduces a VIC-20/C64 Volksmodem Interface Cable. The Volksmodem (a low-cost direct connect modem from Anchor Automation) connects itself to a computer via a 5 pin DIN jack in the modem case, and requires a separate cable to interface it to the particular computer being used. The VIC/C64 User I/O signals are not directly compatible with a standard modem, and usually require considerable circuitry (and considerable cost) before they are suitable. However, the necessary components have been packed onto a miniature board inside the connector shell to provide a low cost interface cable from the Volksmodem to the VIC-20/C64. Since the Volksmodem can also be used with almost all other personal computers, and is priced comparable to the Commodore VICMODEM, it makes an excellent buy for someone looking for an inexpensive modem. The VIC-20/C64 Volksmodem Interface Cable comes with complete manual, including a type-in BASIC terminal program for the VIC-20 and C64. (Volksmodem not included).

CATALOG # 10-103 ... VOLKSMODEM Interface cable for the VIC-20/C64 $22.95 (1.60)

AUTO-PRINT MODEM for the VIC-20 and C64 (Microperipheral)

A low cost, direct connect modem designed for the VIC-20 and Commodore 64 computers, the AUTO-PRINT MICROCONNECTION connects directly to the USER I/O port of the computer and requires no additional interface. It operates at 300 baud (Bell 103) in either originate or answer mode and is FCC type accepted. It is called an "Autoprint" modem because it has a built-in Centronics compatible parallel printer port in addition to the modem circuitry. You can hook up any conventional parallel printer, such as an Epson, Star Gemini, Tally, or Okidata to the back of the modem. With the modem connected to the phone line, the printer will simultaneously provide hard copy of what ever appears on the screen. The unit features both autodial and autoanswer capabilities. SUPERTERM Smart terminal program (available from MIDWEST MICRO) has been modified to support autodialing the AUTO-PRINT MICROCONNECTION. The comprehensive manual provided with the modem includes a type-in BASIC autodialing terminal program, a host program which auto answers and recieves incoming text, and a simple text processor program which let's you output text to the printer.

CATALOG # 13-101 ... AUTO PRINT MICROCONNECTION for the VIC-20/C64 $149.95 (3.00)

SMART SLOT for the C64 (Progressive Peripherals)

SMART SLOT is an intelligent four slot expansion buss for the C64 computer. It features four software selectable or hardware selectable bus expansion slots. The slots may be selected from one poke statement for any combination of slots, or with hardware selectable DIP switches. It is fused to protect the 64 and your cartridges, and has gold plated contacts in all possible places. SMART SLOT accepts all C64 cartridges in any slot. It includes a push button switch for a system reset. This is very useful by itself, when you have gotten yourself locked up POKing around in the memory. SMART SLOT includes a user's guide which is very easy to understand and will let you do things you never thought possible with your C64. SMART SLOT has a 90 day parts and labor guarantee.

CATALOG # 14-101 ... SMART SLOT for the C64 $99.95 (3.00)

PC DOCUMATE (Sys. Mgmt)

Gives the programmer convenient documentation of the most needed programming reference information for the VIC-20 or C64. A complete BASIC language reference is provided. Control Key combinations are defined. Reference information for music programming is clearly and logically presented. A screen memory map, memory address map, and binary conversion table are also provided. This unique template is useful to both the beginning and experienced VIC-20 or C64 programmer. PC DOCUMATE templates are thoughtfully designed by a software professional to enhance the end users productivity. Each template is comprehensive and definitive in it's documentation. The template is precision die-cut from .030 polystyrene. A matte finish prevents glare. The templates are silk-screen printed to exacting standards in black ink which permanently bonds to the plastic and will not wear or fade.

VOICEBOX Speech Synthesizer for the VIC-20 and C64 (Alien Group)

The VOICEBOX easily translates text into highly understandable and intelligible speech. It comes with a demo program of commonly used words, and by utilizing the 64 Basic Votrax phonemes, it can be "taught" to say anything, giving it an unlimited vocabulary. Want to add speech to a new or existing BASIC program? The VOICEBOX has FOUR ways to do it on VIC-20's of any memory size and on any C64: Entirely from BASIC, or using one of three machine language routines which are accessible from BASIC. The first of these converts regular english text to speech, the second does the same, but with a lip-synch "alien" face on the screen, and the third allows you to directly input the 64 Basic phonemes. The VOICEBOX speaks with four inflection levels controlled from the computer, and the speed or pitch of the speaking voice may be precisely controlled over a wide range either from the built-in pitch control or from the program. No other speech synthesizer has this feature. The VOICEBOX plugs directly into the USERS port. It has it's own speaker and volume control. Supplied with the VOICEBOX are the three machine language programs referred to above, plus a spelling quiz program utilizing the "talking alien" (VIC-20 version requires 13K), and a BASIC program demonstrating the VOICEBOX's ability to sing in tune. The VOICEBOX sings the first verse of "A Bicycle Built for Two". A commented demo program shows you how to easily INCORPORATE SPEECH INTO YOUR OWN PROGRAMS. An optional software package offers a high resolution "talking" human face and a comprehensive music and singing program. A second software package is available which allows you to compile a dictionary of english words spelled in their phonemes. Although the VOICEBOX will speak straight english text from a BASIC program, it does not always get the pronunciation and inflection right. The WORD DICTIONARY software package allows you to create a dictionary of words, which the computer will access when that word is needed. If your TEXT says DOG, the VOICEBOX instantly looks up the phonetical data for that word, pronouncing it right. This package is not necessary, but makes it much easier to create a program with lots of speech. The VOICEBOX itself is compatible with both the VIC-20 and the C64, but the software is not. A second copy of the basic software supplied with the VOICEBOX for either computer is available on cassette.

TOTL.SPELLER 3.6 (Totl) C64

A spelling checker for the C64 which links to TOTL.TEXT files, to check and correct your spelling. Featuring a built-in dictionary, which is maintained on a separate disk and expandable to disk capacity, TOTL.SPELLER 3.6 can process your textfiles by "flagging" errors, or by sounding an alarm. You then have four options: correcting the word; bypassing it; adding it to the dictionary (which can also be updated and edited); or choosing the HELP option. This unique "HELP" features displays similar words which could replace the suspected word. Fast, user friendly, and feature oriented, this utility is a must for serious word processing.

- * Allows usage of multiple drives
- * Universal printer support
- * 80 column compatibility
- * The dictionary is maintained on a separate disk, and is expandable to over 23,000 words
- * Accommodates punctuation, capitals, numbers
- * Dictionary utilities to backup, edit, print
- * Verify option displays misspelled words so you can accept-change-add it to the dictionary

SUPER DISK UTILITY 64 (Abacus)

C64

More than just a copy program. Yes, SUPER DISK UTILITY lets you copy a diskette. In fact it lets you copy it in four different ways: TOTAL - sector by sector. BAM - files in use as indicated by the bit map. FILE - you specify which files. APPEND - squeeze your files onto a single diskette. Copying is a machine language speed! Now for the rest: You can display the BIT AVAILABILITY MAP to visually see the usage of your diskette. You can display the directory. The display lets you scroll through the entries. And you can get hardcopy of the directory on your printer is you wish. You can display the contents of any disk sector. You can scroll through the data and also get hardcopy. Finally you can update the contents of any disk sector and rewrite it back to the diskette. SUPER DISK UTILITY is menu driven for ease of use. It makes working with your disk a simple, convenient and reliable experience.

ULTRABASIC 64 (Abacus)

C64

Are you trying to write programs for your C64 using any of the following?

- * High Resolution Graphics
- * Multicolor Graphics
- * Sprite Graphics *
- * Sound Effects or Music
- * Joystick, Game paddles, or Light Pen
- * Hardcopy of Graphics Screen *

Well, if you want a package that makes it ultra-simple to use these features, then you want ULTRABASIC 64. 50 powerful commands are added to your Commodore 64 including all of the graphics commands found in the SCREEN GRAPHICS 64 package listed in the GRAPHICS section of this catalog. These commands cover graphics, sound and music, sprites and games. No longer are you forced to use those hard-to-remember PEEKs and POKEs. ULTRABASIC 64 removes many of the rough edges of using built-in BASIC. And if that isn't enough, included are TURTLE GRAPHICS commands which let you draw with the friendly turtle. Just position him and let him go. He's quite fast, too! You can get hardcopy of your graphics screen in either of two different sizes onto your VC-1515, VC-1525E, or Epson or Gemini printers. ■■ LANGUAGES, ASSEMBLERS & COMPILERS ■■

BASM - BASIC compiler and assembler for the C64

(Computer Alliance)

C64

A new concept in program development tools. BASM is a hybrid BASIC and assembly language, having the advantages of both. It assembles standard 6502 assembly language, and in the same program, compiles BASIC code. BASM will automatically recognise which is which. You can even mix them on the same line. The BASIC used by BASM is a dialect of BASIC adapted to the assembly language environment. For instance the BASM GOTO command uses a name for it's destination rather than a line number. The normal BASM data type is byte integer, like assembly language, and you can use the 6502 special addressing modes in the BASIC statements. This means that BASM BASIC statements translate very directly into machine code. Using one of the list options, you can print out the assembly produced by your BASIC code. Writing programs in BASM is like writing in assembly language, but the syntax in much faster to use. You can write a program in BASM in a third to half the time it would take you to in assembly, but with nearly the same program efficiency. BASM allows you to do block structured programming with the IF...ELSE...ENDIF, WHILE...ENDWHILE, and DEF...ENDDF structures. The DEF command allows you to create your own high level commands and pass parameters to them, or even re-define many of the existing ones. BASM has an easy to use library system for allowing your custom commands to be used by different applications. BASM comes with a built in BASIC-like editor, but with advanced editing commands. The BASM library comes with utilities such as graphics sound, sprites, 16 bit arithmetic, or disk access. BASM compiles/assembles from disk file to disk file, so you will have no difficulty with large programs (BASM also allows multiple files for the source code). BASM locates your program anywhere in memory, and generate ROM-able code. BASM is now being used by many software development companies. BASM comes on disk with a comprehensive 88 page manual. Software updates are available for a small charge when released.

TECHNICAL SPECIFICATIONS:

Execution speed :	217 times faster than Commodore 64 BASIC (Clear Screen routine timed)
Compilation speed:	3-4 lines per second
Final code size:	Comparable to assembly language
Compiler size:	17K
Royalties:	None
Program size limits:	No limitations on code size except symbol table
Native 6502 code:	No P-Code

Variable names up to 32 characters in length
IF, WHILE, and FOR nesting up to 100 deep
Symbol table can handle thousands of symbols
User editable run-time library
A growing library of stock utilities and subroutines
Simple 2-pass compiler/editor
Built in editor
Monitor supplied as a utility program
No limit to the number of data statements
Create your own BASIC statements using DEF...ENDDF

Music for the SYNTHY 64 - If you want to hear your Commodore 64 play some amazing music, then try these music albums for use with SYNTHY 64. Each of these albums was put together with great care and attention to the details of music synthesis. The albums were written by purchasers of SYNTHY 64 who later submitted their completed pieces so that they could be offered to you. Roy Wainwright, the creator of SYNTHY 64 was utterly amazed after listening to these albums. Frankly he didn't realize that SYNTHY 64 was capable of such accomplished music. We're sure that you too will be amazed at the quality and detail of these albums. Each album contains at least 10 full length music peices.

PIPER for the VIC-20

(Abacus)

VIC-20

An exciting way to turn your VIC into a music machine. Piper lets you compose, conduct, and play your own musical scores with ease. And you'll be amazed at the speed with which you can enter music using PIPER. PIPER lets you enter music using familiar notation. With PIPER you don't have to POKE to play a C note. And you don't have to use a FOR-NEXT loop to decide when a quarter note is complete. With PIPER, you play a quarter note by using /4, an eighth note using /16, and so on. You can speed up the overall tempo of your music with a single command. PIPER even lets you sing along - you can display the lyrics as your music plays. PIPER provides commands that make music compositions on a micro similar to reading sheet music. You have the ability to repeat or reuse common stanzas, control the volume, change the tempo, etc. And, after writing your compositions, you can save them to cassette or diskette for replaying at a later time. With PIPER, you enter music as lines as if you were writing sheet music. PIPER is immediately ready to play back these compositions, since PIPER interpretively performs your music. It's so simple to use. Also included is a comprehensive manual and several samples of musical compositions. Runs on VIC-20 without any additional memory expansion.

ORDERING INFORMATION

FILLING OUT THE ORDER BLANK

If you wish to send in an order by mail, the order blank on the opposite page has been provided to make it easier for you to do so, and to ensure that you send all necessary information. For Washington state residents, a 7.9% tax is required, only on the subtotal price, not on additional charges. The "Add $1.65" C.O.D. charge line on the form is there to allow you to compute the total charge the package will be for, if you are ordering C.O.D.

SHIPPING COSTS

Costs for shipping the products are listed next to the price of the product in the catalog. If more than one product is ordered, their shipping should be added together. This cost covers shipping UPS Ground or First Class Mail. We prefer to ship UPS, as we find packages to be more secure, however we may send some items First Class unless otherwise specified. If at all possible, please give a physical shipping address rather than a post office box. Other methods of shipping are available (i.e. Second Day, Next Day, Federal Express, etc.) at your request for appropriate charges. For UPS Second Day shipping, multiply the total normal shipping for your items times two. For other shipping methods, please call or write for charges.

C.O.D. ORDERS AND CHARGES

We very much prefer to send C.O.D. orders by UPS. From our experience, UPS does a much better job of seeing that the recipient is notified that he has a package. However, we can ship First Class Mail C.O.D. if it is your wish. With either shipping method, there is an additional $1.65 C.O.D. charge.

DELIVERY TIME

It is our policy to be able to ship from stock the same day we receive an order. However, supply and demand of particular items will sometimes cause a delay of several days. If a delay of more than 7 days before we can ship looks probable, we will notify you with a postcard and give you the option of cancelling your order.

RETURNING MERCHANDISE

If you wish to return a product for any reason, you must first call or write and get and return authorization number from Customer Services. This number must be marked plainly on the outside of the box the merchandise is returned in. If no valid number is on the outside of the box and we are not expecting the package, it may be refused by us. So please make sure you do this.

REPLACEMENT/REFUND

If you are having difficulty with a product, we will do our very best to see that the difficulty is resolved. If you receive a product by UPS, and it appears the box has been punched or crushed, have the UPS man notice that, refuse the package, and we will have another sent out right away. If you receive a product and it appears to be defective, we will see that you receive a good product immediately. We are limited in refunding merchandise by the resaleability of the merchandise after it has been opened. This varies from product to product. On software purchases, we are limited to replacement of defective copies and may not refund any purchase. Refunds when given are limited to the amount paid for the product, and do not include shipping or C.O.D. fees.

PRICES

Prices are subject to change without notice, but for all practical purposes you can count on the prices in this catalog as firm, without needing to call and verify. If by any chance it has been necessary to change any price, you would be notified immediately.

★ WIN A C64, DISK DRIVE OR COLOR MONITOR ★

We want to be the best source for your peripheral and software needs for your VIC-20 or C64 computer. The most important part of doing that is offering the services and items that you want to have, Although this includes stocking the most popular games or the most useful peripherals, it also includes more service oriented qualities such as fast shipping. Some of the best computer companies try to guess what is needed or wanted by their customers, however the best source to find out what you want is by asking you!

We want you to write in and tell us how we can be of better service to you! How can we improve what we offer, and how we offer it? Are we missing important products you would want to have? Anything you think will improve the offers in our catalog, we want to know. You are the best person to judge what you should tell us. Write in and let us know.

On May 30th, 1984 we will take the suggestions we have received and randomly draw one. That person will be given his or her choice of a C64 computer, 1541 disk drive, or Color Monitor, all of which are worth over $200.00. It doesn't matter if you buy anything or not in order to win.

You can write you suggestions on a separate piece of paper and send them in. Don't forget to put your name, address, and phone number on it.

Thanks,
